

RUSSIANS NOW SHOWING BETTER FIGHTING MOOD; BUT GERMANS ADVANCE

Report Cernowitz Taken By Teutons; Around Tarnopol Germans Meet Stubborn Resistance; Cossacks Forced Over Sereth; Rumanians Advance; Continue War Till Aims of Allies Met.

Copenhagen, Denmark July 27.—Reports from Vienna say that the evening newspapers in the Austrian capital assert that the Russians are evacuating Cernowitz, capital of Bukovina.

The Russian retirement in eastern Galicia continues. There has been a noticeable slackening in the Austro-German advance north of the Dniester, where the Russians are now offering more spirited resistance, but south of the river to the Carpathians the Teutonic forces are moving forward almost unimpeded.

Round Tarnopol the Austro-Germans have met with stubborn resistance from the Russians, but Prince Leopold's soldiers were enabled to enlarge recent gains on the eastern bank of the Sereth. South of Tarnopol the Russians were forced to yield the crossing of the Sereth and Gniza rivers on a front of about eight miles, according to Berlin. Southeast of Tarnopol Petrograd reports the Austro-German attacks were repulsed.

Russians Retire.

The Russians have retired to new positions southeast of Trembowla, but whether they also surrendered the crossing of the Sereth there Petrograd does not say. Between Czortkov and the Dniester Russian cavalry have repelled Teutonic assaults and driven the attackers northwestward toward Nonastarsyska.

South of the Dniester into the foothills of the Carpathians the Russians are retiring eastward. Kolomea, about 50 miles northwest of Cernow, the capital of Bukovina, has been occupied by Bavarians and Austro-Hungarian troops. The town is an important railway junction and lies north of the Pruth. An official report from Austrian sources says the Russians are evacuating Cernowitz.

The advances of the Rumanians in the Suchitza valley northwest of Focuni have resulted in the abandonment of that valley as far as the upper course of the Outna by the Austro-Germans. The Rumanians have moved forward 7½ miles, gaining all of their objective and occupying ten villages. More than 400 additional prisoners and guns and war materials were captured by the Rumanians.

Little Fighting in West.

Except in Flanders and in Champagne there has been no infantry fighting on the western front. In Flanders the British took LaBasse Villa but surrendered it later before a German counterattack. The German crown prince in attacks against the heights southwest of Moronvillers, and east of Auberville in Champagne was repulsed with heavy loss by the French.

The decision to continue the war until the aims of the allies have been attained is announced by the conference of powers held in Paris. It was decided also to withdraw the entente troops from ancient Greece, Thessaly and Epirus. This latter action will not affect the campaign in Macedonia and Albania, but will result in the turning over to the new Greek government the territory seized to make secure the rear of the entente armies fighting in the Balkans while Greece was still a non-combatant.

London, England, July 27.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Petrograd says: "Ensign Mlle. Vera Butchikareff, commander of the Russian women's battalion, and Lieutenant Sarydova, suffering from shock as a result of bursting shells, and about a dozen other members of the battalions wounded in recent fighting have been sent to Minsk. When they reached Poltava they were welcomed by 1,000 soldiers and citizens with a brass band."

INDICT GOVERNOR OF TEXAS ON NINE COUNTS

SPECIAL SESSION OF HOUSE CALLED TO CONSIDER IMPEACHMENT

Austin, Texas, July 27.—Governor Ferguson today was indicted by the Travis county grand jury on nine counts, seven charging misapplication of public funds, one diversion of public funds and one charge of embezzlement.

C. J. Bartlett, secretary of state, was indicted on four counts, charging misapplication of public funds.

C. J. Stowe, state superintendent of buildings and grounds, was indicted on one count.

C. O. Austin, commissioner of insurance and banking, was indicted on four counts.

Other indictments were returned, but have not been announced. Last Monday the speaker of the Texas house called for a special session for August 1, to consider if articles of impeachment should not be considered against the governor.

A previous attempt was made to impeach Governor Ferguson in March, when a special house committee investigated mansion expenses.

TEST AUTO HEADLIGHTS.

Syracuse, July 27.—Thirty-eight automobile headlight devices designed to meet the requirements of the New York state statutes were tested here tonight under the direction of the New York State Motor federation. Next Tuesday the technical committee of that body will make public announcement of the devices which in their opinion meet the requirements of the Hewitt law. Certificates of approval will be given the manufacturers of the satisfactory headlights to enable them to advertise their products correctly.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO REPORT.

Plattsburg, July 27.—Adjutant General McCain, notified Lieutenant Colonel McCall, commander of the Officers' Training camp, today that all reserve officers who have been recommended for commissions in the national army will be ordered to report to their divisional commands not later than August 27. The successful candidates will be given twelve days to go to their homes and secure clothing before reporting for duty.

WISHED AMERICAN BOATS SUNK.

Rochester, July 27.—Charges that Michael Higgins, a veteran of the Indian wars, had expressed the hope that American vessels would be sunk by German submarines if they aided Great Britain in the war, have been sustained and his expulsion from the Bath Soldiers' home ordered, it was announced here today.

RENEW RACE RIOTING IN PENNSYLVANIA

MOB GETS AWAY FROM ARMED GUARDS; AUTHORITIES SURPRISED

Chester, Pa., July 27.—Although a force of nearly 200 armed guards, including local and state police and volunteer deputies were patrolling the city, a mob of several thousand men and boys renewed race rioting here tonight. Shortly after dark the rioters got beyond control and beat a negro inmate before he could be rescued. Scores were arrested. The authorities who believed the situation was under control were taken by surprise when the rioters appeared in large numbers in the central section of the city.

When they attacked tonight's victim, rioting broke out on a large scale for the fourth time this week. Wagon loads of guards held ready for trouble, were rushed to the scene of the disorder and the mob was driven back with revolvers pointed at them.

Frank Meadows, a negro, who was shot at noon today, was reported to be near death in the city hospital. Two other colored men died on at the same time are also in a serious condition.

Sheriff Heyburn issued a proclamation tonight forbidding all citizens to congregate on the streets and ordering everyone indoors after 9 p. m., except those whose business made it necessary for them to be on the street. All saloons and places of amusement were ordered closed.

ALLIED CHARITIES COME TO AGREEMENT

BASIS OF COOPERATION REACHED WITH THE RED CROSS

New York, July 27.—After a conference here today between officials of the American Red Cross and the allied war charities it was announced an agreement had been reached on a basis of co-operation "subject to ratification of the war council of the Red Cross and the federal council of allied war charities."

It was stated that the deadlock which has existed apparently will be bridged by the understanding tentatively reached.

"By the terms of today's agreement a statement said, 'the federal council of allied war charities would become permanent and would include practically all of the 74 separate organizations for which it has been acting with the negotiations with the committee on co-operation with the Red Cross.'"

NORTHCLIFF MILLS TO PROVIDE NEWS PRINT

WILL GO FAR TO ALLEVIATE THE PRESENT LARGE SHORTAGE

New York, July 27.—The Editor and Publisher will publish tomorrow an announcement by the paper committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association that through a contract made by the committee with Lord Northcliffe's new mill 80,000 tons of news print annually will be available without contract for small publishers in the United States and others who have not been able to get paper at reasonable prices.

The paper committee expresses the belief that bringing this extra news print into the market will result in lower prices all around and it will restore competition, creating a buyers' market, placing at the disposal of publishers generally more paper than they will need. It is also expected to have an important bearing on 1918 contracts.

Necessary ships have been engaged to transport the supply here and two cargoes already have been delivered on the Atlantic seaboard and another will be on the way within a few days. This news print is in rolls and sheets.

"This paper will be sold in carload lots at rates less than the prevailing market quotations, the paper committee says and the publishers who take large quantities will get it for less than $3 per hundred tons f. o. b. seaboard."

The finance for this arrangement was made possible through the generosity of a large number of large publishers. The smaller publishers may now get their supplies by communicating with A. G. MacIntyre.

OVER TEN BILLION IN MCADOO'S WAR BUDGET

FIVE BILLION DISCREPANCY IN BILL MUST BE MADE UP

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Secretary McAdoo submitting estimates to congress today for the new war budget said the first year of the war promised now to cost $10,735,807,000 exclusive of loans to the allies, making it necessary to raise more than $6,500,000,000 additional revenue.

The war tax bill as revised by the senate finance committee provides for only a little more than $1,500,000,000 in additional revenue. The $5,000,000,000 discrepancy probably will be made up partly by increasing the bill's levy and partly by a bond issue.

Besides the estimate of more than $5,000,000,000 additional expenses submitted by the war department, Mr. McAdoo presented estimates from other departments totaling upward of another $1,000,000,000.

ROADS WILL GIVE FREIGHT CARS

Government's Needs To Be Met and Movement Expedited.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Plans by which railroads will give the government ample freight car service for moving war supplies were announced today by the railroad war boards. Whenever orders are placed requiring more than ten cars for movement the government will give advance notice to the railroad commission on car service which will arrange to have the cars ready on time. It is estimated that more than 100,000 cars will be needed within the next few days to ship lumber and other supplies for army cantonments.

To hasten government shipments cars bearing them will be marked "United States freight expedite," or with some similar notice.

SISTER BELIEVES THAT LORD KITCHENER LIVES

London, England, July 27.—The statement of Mrs. Parker, sister of Lord Kitchener, that she believes her brother to be alive and did not go down with the cruiser Hampshire has revived a rumor which has recurred in England during the past year. Asked by an interviewer today on what ground she based her belief, Mrs. Parker replied:

"I cannot tell you on what grounds I believe, in fact I do not want to go into any details whatever."

The original rumor was that a letter had been received from a British prisoner in Germany saying that Lord Kitchener was a prisoner there. The letter was never traced and the rumor was considered a canard.

PRESIDENT STILL DECIDE ON LIQUORS

RAPID PROGRESS MADE ON FOOD CONTROL BILL IN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Senate and house conferees on the food control bill made such substantial progress today that a complete agreement seemed probable by tomorrow.

The conferees virtually agreed to strike out the plan for a congressional joint committee on war expenditures proposed by President Wilson and to accept the senate amendment authorizing the President to fix the price of coal and coke to take over mines. There was also a virtual agreement on the senate amendment to regulate the making of contracts for the government by the defense council advisors.

Sentiment regarding the liquor amendment seemed to be that congress should be satisfied to put the ban on whiskey, to authorize the commandeering of distilled spirits in bond so far as necessary and to authorize the president to permit the making of beer and light wines if he chose.

What the decision would be between the senate provision for a food board of three and the house authorization for one food administrator remained uncertain.

RETAIN PRESENT ARMY UNITS IN SAME SIZE

TACTICAL REORGANIZATION TO NOT MAKE ANY CHANGE

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Plans for tactical reorganization of the army are not advanced to the point where any immediate change in the size or formation of divisions now in this country is contemplated. It was stated officially today that the division of the regulars, National Guards and national army would move to their camps in the formation of the present "typical" infantry today, that the divisions of the regulars prescribed by law by which the president is authorized to vary as he sees fit.

Presumably a reorganization of General Pershing's forces in harmony with the smaller divisions plan now in vogue with the allies armies, has been affected. The exact nature of the change of course has not been disclosed.

A typical infantry division of the American army makes a total force of 28,000 men. The French use about 16,000 men to a division and the Germans about the same, and in trench fighting the unit or organization appears to be the corps, rather than the division. A typical division as it exists can be shaped to meet any emergency and that is what will be done on the basis of actual experience in France.

WILSON MAY ANNOUNCE NEW WAR BUYING PLAN

WAR INDUSTRY BOARD AND PRIORITY BOARD PROBABLE

Washington, D. C., July 27.—The new plan for making government war purchases, calling for reorganization of the committee system of the defense council probably will be announced by President Wilson tomorrow or Monday and be put into effect immediately. The council was to have approved it today but postponed action until tomorrow.

Creation of a war industry board and a priority board to supervise government buying is the most important change from the present system. The war industries board with Frank Scott at its head, although making no actual purchases will approve all contracts for supplies. The priority board will designate the order in which government contracts shall be filled.

Both the war and navy departments will delegate purchasing powers to their representatives on the war board.

COMMISSIONS FOR OFFICERS.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—War department officials are preparing to issue commissions to successful candidates at the officers training camps promptly on the closing of the first series of camps on August 15. Definite figures as to the number to be commissioned are not available, but probably between 20,000 and 25,000 men will be given papers. Their assignment to the regular army, National Guard, or national army will follow immediately.

U. S. DESTROYER FOILS U-BOAT'S CAPTURE PLAN

ARRIVES JUST AS CAPTAIN OF SHIP IS BEING TAKEN PRISONER

Base of the American flotilla in British waters, July 27, by the Associated Press.—The captain of a liner recently torpedoed from which 60 passengers and 90 members of the crew were rescued by an American destroyer today asked the Associated Press to convey to the American people a letter of thanks and heartfelt appreciation on behalf of himself and passengers and crew for the gallant rescue by the Americans.

"But for the quick arrival of the American destroyer, said the captain, 'prisoner on a German submarine. The Germans were taking us when the American destroyer caused them to flee.'"

ANARCHISTS REACH METROPOLIS

New York, July 27.—Emma Goldman, anarchist, sentenced to prison with Alexander Berkman for obstructing operation of the selective draft law, and later granted an appeal by Justice Brandeis of the United States supreme court, arrived here tonight from the federal prison at Jefferson City, Mo.

Miss Goldman was granted a request to confer with her attorney, her niece and Berkman regarding bail, after which she was locked up in the Tombs prison. She complained that she was held incommunicado in an isolated wing in the prison for the two weeks she was held there.

SHOT BY HIS FATHER.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 27.—Al Palzer, a heavyweight pugilist, is near death in a hospital here today, suffering from bullet wounds inflicted last night by his father.

Palzer sought to protect his mother, who had been shot in the arms when his father turned the rifle on him, shooting him in the abdomen. The husband and wife had been quarrelling in the evening.

MAY BE NO WORLD'S SERIES

Draft Depleting Major League Teams of More Than Twenty-five Players.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—There is likely to be no world's series this year as a result of the drain on the major league baseball players by the draft. B. B. Johnson, president of the American league said here tonight on his return from New York. He said that tabulation of draft numbers held by players showed that probably 25 men would be taken from the American league and that the American league would not play the series if it were handicapped by such a loss.

The league's president also stated that he had learned that the military drilling installed by the league early in the season would not cause the war department to extend exemption to baseball players until the end of the season. His information was, Mr. Johnson declared, that the ball players would be drafted about September 1.

CHICAGO THREATENED BY SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE

BROTHERHOOD GIVES NOTICE THAT 25,000 MEN WILL GO OUT

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—The 19 Chicago railroads who have been threatened with a strike tomorrow morning of 25,000 switchmen, belonging to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, tonight began sending out notices of an embargo on livestock and perishable freight to and through Chicago. This announcement was made by Frank Hasler, of the committee of railroad general managers.

Mr. Hasler said the embargo notices would be sent as soon as possible. The embargo, he said, would be for the duration of this strike, ending automatically as soon as a peace agreement was signed.

The railroads also appealed to Mayor William H. Thompson, the sheriff and the chief of police for protection. George S. Hanover, chairman of the roads' committee, sent the following notice to the city officials:

"The conference committee of managers of the roads are threatened by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen with a strike of the yardmen employed in their Chicago terminals if they do not make concessions which would establish the closed shop in favor of members of their organization and deprive the management of the power to select yard masters and their assistants."

"The railroads also are threatened with a strike of the members of the Switchmen's union employed in their Chicago terminals, if they yield to the demands of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, because this would close the door of employment against many members of the union."

"The conference committee has proposed mediation by the federal mediator and conciliation board, which has been declined by the Brotherhood. A strike vote has been taken and Mr. Murdock, vice president of the trainmen, has notified us that the members of his organization in the Chicago district will be withdrawn from service at 6 a. m. Saturday, July 28."

"This means that there will be a great deal of interruption to traffic in the Chicago switching district and the railroads will need protection to enable them to conduct their business."

James Murdock, vice president of the Brotherhood, denied that the switchmen were seeking a closed shop and characterized the reasons given out by the railroad managers as causing the strike as "unqualifiedly incorrect."

He said 98 per cent of the switchmen had voted in favor of a strike because the railroads had refused to grant requests made by the Brotherhood. The new rule sought would give preference to members of the Brotherhood in employing yardmen, giving preference to Brotherhood yardmen in promotion.

INCREASE WAR RISK INSURANCE RATES

OLD RATE NOT SUFFICIENT IN VIEW OF HEAVY RISK

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Another increase of 1½ per cent in government insurance rates for vessels and cargoes sailing from American ports for Europe and for African ports on the Mediterranean was announced today by the War Risk Insurance bureau. It will be effective August 15. The present rate is five per cent.

The new rate of 6½ per cent will apply also to American bound vessels from foreign ports mentioned. "It is the first increase since the United States entered the war and was made necessary," said the bureau's announcement, "because the five per cent rate is inadequate for the risks undertaken through the so-called war zone, as the bureau has sustained a number of heavy losses."

A change has been made in the bureau's policy for insuring masters, officers and seamen, providing for payments in monthly installments or in a lump sum at the option of the bureau but without interest. Previously the policies provided for payments in a lump sum only. The general plan will be to make the payments in installments wherever feasible.

BOARDS DECIDE DRAFT CASES

Inquirers At Washington Told to Ask At District

WHITMAN ACCUSED

Regulations Tell About Exemptions; Say Whitman Used Politics in Appointments

Washington, D. C., July 26.—A deluge of personal inquiries concerning future steps in the army draft and of pleas from industrial concerns for exemption of their expert workers drew from the provost marshal's office today a statement that questions must be addressed to local boards and that claims for industrial exemptions must go later to the district boards.

No general class of workmen will be exempted, Provost Marshal General Crowder told the coal production committee, which sought information whether miners will be left at their work. Appeals from the mining companies on behalf of their men can accomplish nothing, the delegates were told.

The question of whether a man is more useful to his country in a peaceful pursuit than in military service is a matter to be taken up with the district board, said an announcement, and for that board to determine in the light of circumstances surrounding each individual case.

Procedure for Claims.

"Procedure in case of claims for discharge on the ground of industry or agriculture is explicitly outlined on the regulations. Only the upper or district board has jurisdiction over an industrial or agricultural claim for discharge. Before a man has a standing before the district board he must first be certified to it by the local or lower board as physically qualified for service and must have had any discharge claim made before the lower board decided adversely to him."

"He has five days after he is certified to the upper board in which to file claim for discharge, and five days more in which to file proof. All claims for exemption or discharge except claims for discharge on industrial or agricultural grounds, are decided originally by the local or lower board."

Most individual queries from the provost marshal general's office came from men who are absent from their home districts. Such a man should apply to the home district and request an order to appear for examination before the board or district in which he is now living.

Gotham Gets Master Lists.

New York, July 27.—Duplicate master lists for New York draft exemption boards were rushed from Washington tonight by special messenger to take the place of the original lists which were forwarded to Albany by registered mail Wednesday afternoon but had not been delivered.

Preparations for delivering the lists throughout the city as rapidly as possible were started. The mayor's committee on national defense supplies 21 automobiles to facilitate the distribution.

A committee of physicians has arranged to have free medical attention given to drafted men anxious to serve in the army which are now kept out because of minor physical defects.

Albany, July 27.—The master lists for the New York exemption boards which have been delayed, arrived at the adjutant general's office here tonight. Work was at once begun to have them placed immediately in the mails for the various boards. No reason for the delay in receiving the lists could be given by members of the adjutant general's force.

Accused of Politics.

New York, July 27.—Governor Whitman was accused of having selected draft exemption boards for "political purposes" in a statement issued here tonight by Edwin S. Harris, chairman of the Democratic State committee. He said the governor cannot escape "just condemnation" for having brought the selective draft into disrepute in this state.

"The local boards of exemption in this state," the statement said, "were all constituted on partisan lines. In many counties they were constituted entirely of Republican partisans and in those instances where a minority representation was given it was so small that it could not possibly have any influence. And worst than that in localities where there was a set sentiment against conscription appointments were made for the obvious purpose of appeasing that sentiment."

Chairman Harris declared that no Democrat of standing was consulted about the list and that he could "cite any number of instances which would probably interest the public as to the manner in which the naming was done."

Buffalo, July 27.—Mrs. Louise Hacker, aged 58, mother of Reuben and Hulda Hacker, and Mrs. Angeline Storey, all of Maryland, Otsego county, died here early today after a brief illness. Her home is in Attica. Besides the above mentioned she is survived by her husband and six sons. Interment will be at Attica on Monday afternoon.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York Markets.

New York, July 27. — Covering of shorts in steel and war shares generally contributed as much as anything to the comparative strength of today's bull and very restricted stock market operations, the movements in most essentials was a replica of recent week-ends.

Metals, oils, a few equipments, notably Baldwin Locomotive and Virginia Iron, shippings and such specialties as Industrial Alcohol, Maltling preferred and distillers figured among the gains of 1 to 3 points.

General Motors, Studebaker and Maxwell and utilities of the class of Third Avenue, Philadelphia company, and American Telephone company, featured the reverse side at gross recessions of as much, rallying in part later.

St. Paul forfeited much of its gain of the previous day under pressure, and other rails rose and fell within narrow limits, except Canadian Pacific and Western Maryland, preferred, the former gaining a point and the latter receding 5.

The market was at its best in the last hour, that being the only broad trading period of the session. United States Steel led the rise in active stocks to 122½, closing at its best, a net gain of 1½ points.

Heaviness of international issues was the noteworthy feature of the bond market and domestic rails and industrials also yielded. Liberty 3½s changed hands in large blocks at 99.80 to 99.90 for regular lots to 99.35 for odd lots. Total sales of bonds (par value) aggregated $2,345,000,000. U. One Word.
"There is one word that we quickly learn in five languages," said an American Red Cross nurse who served in a French army hospital. "It is the word that comes most often to the lips of sick or wounded soldiers when suffering or delirium wrings utterance from them. It is mitter, mere, moeder, madre and mother."

The Last Word.
"Your better half likes the last word, doesn't she?" questioned the confidential friend.
"I don't think so," rejoined the other. "Anyway, she is always remarkably reluctant about reaching it." — Philadelphia Record.

SPEED OF A MOTORCAR.

Fast Running, Besides the Danger, Files Up the Coat.

"The driver who persists in operating his motorcar at high speed may elude constables and police," says a writer in the Farm and Fireside, "but he cannot escape from the penalties which natural mechanical laws levy upon his car. Here are ten reasons why it is expensive, dangerous and inconsiderate of others to speed:

"This last about twice as long on a car that is driven at fifteen miles an hour as upon cars driven at thirty miles an hour. Speeding generates heat, which is an enemy to rubber.

"Driving a car around a sharp corner at twenty-five miles an hour does more damage to the tires than 200 miles of straight road work. Excessive side pressure on tires may pinch the tubes, and it always strains the side walls of the casings.

"High speeds are likely to cause skidding and breakage of springs and steering gear, any of which are dangerous when speeding.

"In proportion to the mileage obtained, high speeds require more gasoline and oil than a moderate rate of traveling.

"Driving a car at excessive speed, especially over rough roads, subjects the bearings to enormous strains.

"High speed may cause crystallization of rapidly moving metal parts that are subject to strain, and these may break at any time without warning.

"High speed interferes with the accuracy of steering, as is shown by the number of reckless drivers who have gone over banks and into ditches, especially on curves.

"It is a strain on the eyes and the nerves of the driver and also of the other passengers in the car.

"Finally it is a menace to the pleasure and safety of others who use the road.

"The majority of modern motorcars develop their maximum efficiency with lowest expense at speeds ranging from fifteen to twenty-five miles an hour, depending on the make of car and condition of the road."

Unfamiliar Uses of Molasses.

Molasses is not only the most important byproduct of beet sugar manufacture from a financial standpoint, but is also of particular interest chemically and from the point of view of the variety of ways in which it has been utilized. Among these are cattle feeding, alcohol production and extraction processes. In cattle feeding the molasses is mixed with alfalfa meal or beet pulp when available, as the molasses in its original state is too sticky for feeding. Alcohol and vinegar are also made from molasses in this country and abroad. — Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering.

Man Responsible For Constantine's Dethronement

M. Jonnart, the French ambassador to Greece, who also represented Great Britain and Russia, is the man directly responsible for the downfall of Constantine, King of Greece. M. Jonnart advised the allied governments to remove King Constantine because of his pro-German sentiments. This is the first photograph of M. Jonnart to be received in this country.

The Great Tropical Belt.

Between the thirtieth parallel of north latitude, which runs through New Orleans, north Africa, northern India and southern China, and the thirtieth parallel of south latitude, which cuts through southern Brazil, the southern tip of Africa and the southern part of Australia, is half the land area of the world outside the polar regions and one-half the world's population. Yet the commerce of this great tropical belt, with half the land area and half the world population, is but one-sixth that of the international commerce of the world, and it has but one-seventh of the world's railways despite the fact that the temperate zones are anxiously calling for its products of food and manufacturing material.

Father's Peaceful Role.

There is nothing in the theory, advanced by the funny papers, to the effect that indignant fathers kick objectionable suitors down the front steps. All a father does when his daughter entertains a young man who is objectionable to him is to growl to his wife. — Topeka Capital.

So He Rose.

An Irish M. P. once declared with due solemnity, "Mr. Speaker, I cannot sit still here and keep silent without rising and saying a few words." — London Telegraph.

He who conceals a useful truth is equally guilty with the propagator of an injurious falsehood. — Augustine.

FOR GOLF PLAYERS.

A Few Suggestions on the Best Grip For Hands and Feet.

The importance of the general equipment of a golfer in all its details is often overlooked, and it is therefore proposed to mention a few things to be remembered. Perhaps the greatest problems are the best grips for the hands and feet. So far as the former is concerned, to many this is no trouble at all, for they just rub some pitch or wax on their grips and have no further difficulty, but there are others who cannot use either of these because it makes the hands sore, thus taking away much of the pleasure of the game.

Something in the way of an alternative to be recommended is rough rubber. One would imagine that this material would wear the hands out sooner than anything else, but this is not the case. There seems to be a prejudice against wearing gloves for golf, but they are really quite easy to play in, although it takes a few weeks to get thoroughly accustomed to them. Gloves have the advantage of keeping the hands warm, as well as preventing them from becoming sore, cracked or blistered.

A firm grip for the feet is just as important as a good grip for the hands. It has been said that the ordinary nails which are put in golf shoes are not much good. Gymnasium shoes are suggested for dry weather, but are practically useless if the ground becomes at all wet. It is a great mistake to play in gymnasium shoes or those with no heels and then suddenly to change to thick soled boots, for when these have studs or nails fitted the player stands quite an inch higher. A difference like this is apt to alter the game of any one considerably, and one golfer who tried it sliced all his drives until he got accustomed to his higher position.

A player should always see that he is thoroughly comfortable and should avoid carrying bulky things in his pockets, such as balls, which often get in the way when approaching and putting. These articles should be placed in charge of the caddy during the round, or, failing the caddy, they should be put into the pocket of the bag. No golfing equipment is complete without a rag or duster to dry the grips in the event of rain or to wipe the hands if they should perspire in hot weather. — New York Post.

Good Time to Prove It.

The children were giving a surprise party to a boy new to the neighborhood, and Harry wanted much to go, so he sought his father's consent. The first question dad put to him on being approached was:

"Have you asked your mother?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did she say?"

"She said I couldn't go," was the response. "She doesn't like the new boy."

"Then," demanded the astonished and indignant father, "what do you mean by coming to me to ask to do a thing your mother has told you you could not do?"

"Well, dad," replied Harry, "I heard you say the other evening that you're the boss of this ranch, and I thought it was about time for you to prove it."

A CODY ADVENTURE

In the Days When Buffalo Bill Was a Pony Express Rider.

HIS CLASH WITH AN OUTLAW.

The Story of a Holdup and Its Curious Climax as Told by the Great Scout Himself—A Boy's Nerve and a Case of Dramatic Retribution.

No enterprise ever undertaken in America was more fruitful of picturesque incident, hardship and adventure than the famous pony express line that Russell, Majors and Waddell established in the fifties.

The route extended from the Missouri river to Sacramento, a distance of 1,900 miles. It traversed a country full of hostile Indians and white desperadoes and led across plains, through valleys and over lofty mountains.

Naturally the riders were picked men. They had to face deadly dangers and were often called upon to do double duty in place of a slain or wounded comrade. The pay, however, was good, as befitted so dangerous a calling. It ranged from $100 to $125 a month.

I was (wrote Colonel William F. Cody) about sixteen years old when I applied for a chance to enter this service. My mother and sisters needed my help, and the good wages paid by the pony express company tempted me.

At first I was told that I was too young to stand the tremendous strain, but after considerable pleading on my part the company consented to give me a trial as an extra on a run of forty-five miles that was to be covered with three horses in three hours.

I accepted the offer, and it was on this route that quite early in my experience as an express rider I met with a most peculiar adventure. One morning as I was crossing a rough bit of country on the gallop there came suddenly a throng of "Halt! Up with your hands, boys!"

A man had risen apparently from the very ground under my feet. While he covered me with the revolver that he held in his right hand he extended his left to catch my bridle rein. There was nothing to do but obey, although I knew that the pouch contained a large sum of money.

"Give me that pouch, boy!" I held it out, but as he extended his hand for it my opportunity came. I kicked the revolver from his grasp, drove the spurs in deep and made a dash.

I was just beginning to chuckle over my escape when a bullet whistled by my ear. That was too much for me. I should have known better than to stop, but without thinking I wheeled in my saddle and returned the shot just as the desperado fired again. This time he hit my pony, which gave one leap and then fell heavily.

Luckily I landed on my feet and jumped to the shelter of a big rock. The outlaw was coming toward me and trying to fire as he ran, but I noticed that at each pull of the trigger his revolver missed fire. I believed that I had him at my mercy. I wanted to capture him and march him to the next relay station, where the men would take charge of him. With this in mind I refrained from firing, and so he was enabled to reach the cover of the same boulder behind which I myself had taken shelter.

There we were, a rock ten feet in diameter between us, and each very well aware that it was a fight for life. For a time neither of us dared to move; then gradually and as silently as possible I crawled back from the rock far enough so that I could watch both sides of it at once. But as I lay there watching my poor pony gave what seemed an almost human moan and turned his faithful eyes upon me. He made a desperate, vain attempt to rise and uttered a low neigh so full of grief and pain that I determined to put the horse out of his misery, and, resting on one elbow, I took careful aim and sent a bullet through his brain.

Instantly my shot was followed by one from the other side of the rock—so quickly, in fact, that the two reports were almost simultaneous. I could not tell whether it had been aimed at me or not, but I knew I was not hit.

The struggles of my pony had ceased, and everything was still. I waited and watched until I could stand it no longer; then I began slowly and cautiously to creep round the rock, holding my revolver ready to fire on the instant. I even struck my hat out ahead of me as a decoy, but it brought no response.

Suddenly I saw the outlaw's boots, and, to my surprise, the toes were turned up. Another step brought me within full sight of the man. He lay on his back, quite dead, his revolver beside him, as if it had just fallen from his hand.

A little examination showed me what had happened. The outlaw had been reloading his revolver when I fired at the pony. In those days the only ammunition was powder and ball, which had to be forced home with a ramrod. During the loading the weapon was held upright, and when that part of the operation had been completed the caps were placed on the nipples.

The outlaw had not removed the caps that had failed to explode. My shot had startled him. He had accidentally pulled the trigger, and his own bullet had slain him.—Youth's Companion.

Her Social Ear Was Closed.

The minister knock'd at the door. There were sounds of swift footsteps and splashing water, as though wash-tubs were being cleared away. Thinking he had not been heard, he knocked louder. Faster went the footsteps, and there was noise as of moving chairs and tables. Waiting a reasonable length of time, he again knocked vigorously.

In a few moments a smiling woman came to the door and exclaimed: "Oh! I'm so glad to see you, but you must excuse me. I did not hear you the first two times you knocked."—Christian Herald.

BAD HABITS OF POSTURE.

They Lead to Deformity and Chronic Disease if Not Corrected.

The significance of the postures habitually assumed by individuals is the subject of serious consideration by physicians at present. Exhaustive investigations seem to indicate pretty conclusively that bad postures, such as stooping shoulders, contracted chests or protruded abdomens, are not merely the result of careless habits in the individual, but are due to some slight physical deformity which should be corrected. Generally speaking, persons who have bad posture habits are not very robust.

Every one has observed that persons who are fatigued drop into bad postures temporarily, and there are many examples of unusually robust persons with whom bad posture is chronic. Nevertheless, tendency to bad posture undoubtedly adds to the trend toward weakness and chronic disease, particularly in individuals who are not naturally robust.

The robust child or the adult who takes an adequate amount of recreation from work does not usually fall into bad habits in sitting or standing; in fact, he is able to combat the condition of study and work which make for bad posture. The less robust child and the overworked or too sedentary adult, on the other hand, are obliged to make persistent efforts to avoid bad posture habits. And, although these habits may have no very detrimental effect upon the general health during childhood, they are likely to result in chronic diseases later in life as a result of the anatomical deformities produced.—Exchange.

Platinum in Coins.

The only instance in which platinum has been used for coins was by the Russian government between the years 1828 and 1845, when they made pieces of 3, 6 and 12 rubles. Coins and medals have been struck in this metal by other governments simply for commemorative or experimental purposes, but never for circulation, like the case of the Russian government. Up to within fairly recent years counterfeiters of gold coins have been made of platinum and then gilded. That was only when the price of platinum was about half that of gold.

Love and Strife.

Of a truth love and strife were aforetime and shall be, nor ever, methinks, will boundless time be emptied of that pair. And they prevail in turn as the circle comes round and pass away before one another and increase in their appointed time.—Empedocles.

SUNDY MATTERS OF INTEREST.

Carriers of Contraband Boose.

Since it is well known that many visitors to Oneonta in the course of the week, carry with them spirits when they go home, a word of warning to these carriers of what in many instances are contraband goods, will not be amiss. The revised liquor tax law, which went into effect this spring, prohibits the carrying of either malt liquors or spirits into dry territory. The law is imperative, and yet either because they do not know of it or because no efforts on the part of interested parties have been made, there has been no attempt to enforce it.

This is not the case in the county of Broome. For ten years the town of Union has been dry in intent, but often decidedly wet in fact, on account of the ease of bringing booze into the town from the city of Binghamton. In the last two weeks a determined effort has been made to stop the practice, and men coming to and from Binghamton have frequently been stopped and searched. The result of the stop and search plan has been the confiscation of 97 bottles of whiskey, 11 of gin, and over 100 bottles of beer. In every case a suspended sentence has been given by the justices; but the days of suspended sentences are on the wane. The victim of a second offense will get either 30 days in jail or a fine of $50, and after August 1 the law will be strictly enforced even as to first offenses.

Men coming to Oneonta with a thirst which they aim to alleviate at home all the next week with spirits purchased here, will do well to bear the provisions of the law in mind. There are many dry towns hereabouts, and many people who stock up in the city occasionally for a considerable period. It is up to them to give up the practice, before the town officers in Otsego follow the example of those in Broome.

The New Auto Law.

Oneonta car owners who have not already done so should at once comply with the provisions of the new auto law, which aims to abolish the blinding glare which is a feature of many headlights at present. The new law becomes effective on Wednesday, August 1, and it is expected that all owners of cars will familiarize themselves with the conditions of the new law and get ready to obey its provisions.

But to familiarize themselves with its provisions does not seem to be so easy a matter. In fact it is held by many automobilists to be contradictory in its requirements, and so pivoted as to make its exact meaning far from clear. "This is unfortunate," but drivers who do not know it in at least the expert advice of lawyers and no keep fully within the requirements of the statute. At the same time it is unfortunate that a law affecting so many people directly should not be in every respect clear and definite.

The Indefinite Dog Law.

There is like indefiniteness about the new dog tax law. The Oneonta city clerk had the tags and licenses on hand for some time, but was not certain about requirements of the law as to the sum to be paid—whether, as seems to be the meaning of one section, there should be $2.50 and $4 charged for the licenses, or whether it was to be $2.25 and $3.25. A letter to the state authorities elicited a reply which has the same quality of indefiniteness. "We interpret this law," says the letter, "to mean that the clerk is to charge a fee of 25 cents for each registration," but what the exact figure is to be is not told. The city authorities, however, are taking the lower figure and are accepting the $2.25 and $3.25 rate. That it is right they hope but are uncertain about it.

But, after all isn't it too bad that experienced legislators, with the departments and the expert drawers of bills behind them, should not be able to get such important measures as these straight?

The Problem of Youth.

There has been a great deal said about the activities of our youth during the days of the summer, when the schools are closed and they are, at least the younger and possibly the greater part of the older, without something to do. Often, whether rightly or not, they are declared to be nuisances on streets or at stations, but after without justice. The exuberance of youth is often really the only thing to be blamed, if indeed there is to be blame at all, and what is really needed, is not to curb natural activities, but to turn them into better channels. In this connection it may confidently be affirmed that what are most needed in Oneonta are play grounds, ball and cricket fields, tennis courts and a swimming pool in Wilber park, this park being suggested because the natural advantages there are perhaps greater, or at least such as to make pool and play grounds easier and cheaper of construction. All the things named should be provided at once. The pool should become a reality and not a dream. There should be separate located dressing rooms for boys and girls, and there should be for the season, which as most would not be more than three months, a suitable director, who should have supervision of the pool and see to it that there are no accidents. Is the play grounds generally there should be supervision, to the end that order is kept and the activities of youth are properly directed.

Given these attractions and it wouldn't be any trouble at all to keep boys and girls off the streets. And until they are provided, perhaps it would be well to have a tolerant spirit and possibly a blind eye for the offenses of youngsters who occasionally and without intent drive a bull through a window.

Honor to Soldiers of Oneonta.

It has been suggested that while everybody in Oneonta knows a goodly number of the members of Company G and there is on that account an irrepressible desire to assist them on their practice marches by their familiar names or nicknames, it is a desire which firmly should be suppressed. When in uniform they represent the nation and are a part of the great army on which the world depends. Cheers of the heartiest are always in order when the soldiers march by, but anything which in the slightest degree detracts from the dignity of the command as a whole, or of the men themselves as individuals, should be omitted.

CURRENT COMMENT

One person in every 29 now owns an auto and the 28 of us are lucky if we dodge.—[Wall Street Journal.]

"This is worse than existence in Belgium," one can fancy Mr. Hoover saying after a few months of contact with the capital of his own country.—[Springfield Republican.]

The final insult has been offered the senate. It is declared that Mayor Thompson of Chicago will be a candidate for that body.—[New York Evening Post.]

Can the Crown Prince do anything now to add to the imperishable distinction the whole world cheerfully accorded him when he didn't take Verdun?—[Providence Journal.]

No man is truly patriotic who gives all his regard to the nation and none to the city. He lives in both. The welfare of each he is in honor bound to safeguard.—[Montreal Star.]

Some old fishermen are neglecting their sport while intimating their friends about the size of the wonderful beets, potatoes, onions, lettuce, etc., they are raising in their back gardens. A man who can tell an entertaining fish story should be able to speak instructively on the wonders of his achievements as an amateur gardener.—[Troy Record.]

A Lauenburg friend asks me to draw attention to the military services which the citizens of the little grand duchy are rendering to the allied cause. No fewer, it seems, than 10 per cent of the males of military age are fighting in one or other of the allied armies. There are 2,600 of them in the French army, and about 500 in the Belgian army, and they are also represented in the Canadian contingent, in the army of the United States and among the Italian Alpini.—[Westminster Gazette.]

There is so much talk about millions and billions, and so many big sums twisted to one thing or another, that the church contribution plate after going through an ordinary summer congregation looks about like a fly-speck on the face of the moon.—[Ulster Observer.]

The more voter who, when he gets into jail has to stay, must envy the democratic rights of a suffragist privileged to use a pardon for the repetition of her offense.—[Newark News.]

Lloyd George intimates that Churchill has been bluffing. The British prime minister has been in the political game so long that he knows when a player has a royal flush or a insignificant hand.—[Troy Record.]

No Ohio newspaper can now be sued for libel because it has published the contents of any court records. A recent decision does that much for liberty in Buckeyeedom, and for common sense. All public records are public property.—[Brooklyn Eagle.]

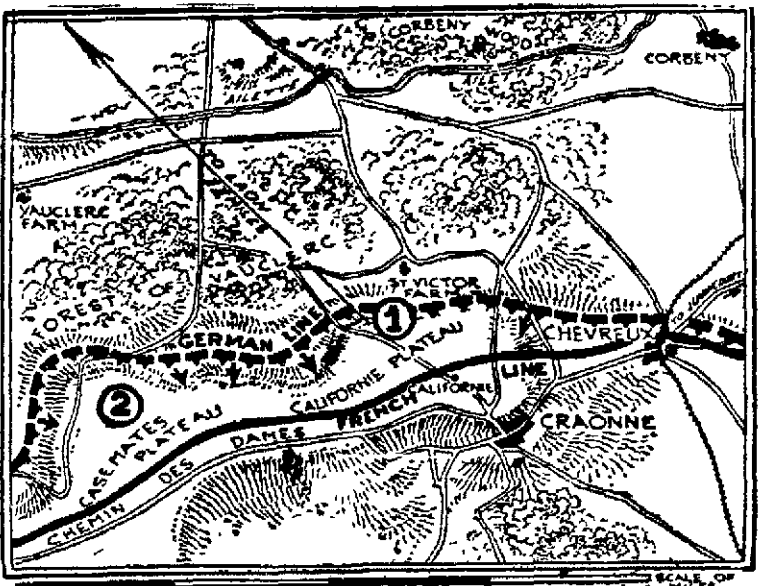

An alien who has been in this country long enough to have taken out naturalization papers and has not done so occupies a position not creditable to him, unless the nature of his work makes him a transient. In essence he is a shikher choosing to reap advantages for which he does not pay at a time like this when the nation needs to realize its own resources to the fullest, something may well be done to bring the alien to an appreciation of his duty.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

There may not be need for the provision made in the aviation bill for drafting men for aerial service but possibly it may quicken the process of finding good stuff for aviators. As a matter of fact, there will be no compelling the unwilling to fly, there is no such purpose in the act. The unwilling would be worthless for expert work of this kind. Compulsion can put a musket and pack on a man's shoulders and make him march but it cannot give him the keen interest in learning needed both for the mechanical mastery of flight and for its special use in war. If there is no ambition to learn a man might as well be sent back to the infantry. Half hearted service is not good enough.—[Springfield Republican.]

Always we have with us persons who presume to tell others how to do things which they could not do themselves.—[Albany Journal.]

Some of our leading senators seem to be on the side of the church bug and army worm when it comes to the question of food control.—[Washington Post.]

Germans Again Fail On The Aisne

The Crown Prince has made another and costly attempt to win back the Champagne Plateau (1) and its neighboring heights, the Casemates Plateau (2). It resulted in heavy losses to the Germans and the French holding stubbornly to the positions. The Germans have not given up their attempts, however, and have begun another heavy cannonade as a preliminary to a new infantry attack.

FINE CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Many Prominent Attorneys and Business Men on Judge Kellogg's Primary Petition and Actively Supporting His Candidacy in Judicial District.

The nominating petitions for Hon. Abraham L. Kellogg as a candidate for justice of the supreme court in the Sixth Judicial district, have for several days been circulating and many lists have already been received filled with the names of leading Republicans in the ten counties. Such large and representative lists are encouraging to Judge Kellogg and his friends but even more so are the names of the men who have gladly consented to act as his campaign committee, and which head the list. The committee is made up as follows:

William H. Johnson of Oneonta, pastor of the Otsego bar, member of the Statutory Revision commission for six years, and for many years the legal advisor to Governors Morton and Roosevelt.

Nathaniel P. Willis of Cooperstown, twelve years surrogate of Otsego county, and leading trial attorney.

Orange L. VanHorne, district attorney of Otsego county and prominent member of the Otsego county bar. Samuel H. Fancher, Walton, ex-district attorney of Delaware county, delegate to late constitutional convention and prominent trial lawyer.

Arthur F. Bouton, Roxbury, prominent lawyer of the eastern section of Delaware county.

Henry B. Sewell Sidney, member of the firm of Sewell & France, prominent attorney.

Walter J. Randall, Hancock, supervisor and leading business man. Hon. Joseph D. Senn, Oneida, county judge and surrogate of the county of Madison.

Leonard L. Saunders, Hamilton, the well-known and popular clerk of Madison county.

Hubert C. Mandeville, Elmira, of the firm of Herodend & Mandeville, long a prominent member of the Chemung bar, and member of the Republican State committee.

Halsey Sayles, Elmira, of the firm of Stanchfield, Lovell, Falk & Sayles, well-known throughout the state as a leading court and trial lawyer.

David M. Dean, nestor of the Tompkins county bar, president of the Ithaca Bar association, and known throughout Central New York as a prominent trial lawyer.

Professor C. Tracy Stagg of Cornell University, Ithaca, whose legal learning and ability and high standing as a lawyer are well recognized throughout the Sixth Judicial district and the state.

Jerry M. Eades the popular and efficient sheriff of the county of Cortland.

Elmer L. Thompson, city judge of Cortland, who was elected to his present position after having been endorsed by all parties.

Olin T. Nye, county judge and surrogate of the county of Schuyler. Frank W. Hero, Seamon, F. Northrup and George M. Velle, Watkins, prominent members of the bar of Schuyler county and widely known throughout the district.

Judge Kellogg has the support of the merits of the cause, the belief that he is the logical candidate, and are very anxious to assist him in the election.

Pictures of Madison Barracks.

W. C. Merrill of Portland was the pleased recipient yesterday of a series of pictures of the camp at Madison Barracks and of the camp life which goes on day by day. The pictures were sent by R. W. Wyckoff, formerly telegraph editor of The Star, and one of them is particularly interesting as it represents vigorously wielding a sledge in the work of trench construction. Mr. Merrill is peculiarly interested in the barracks pictures, as he was formerly stationed at that place.

There is an official in Georgia—or there was, he died recently—who went nearly two years without collecting his salary. This revelation came to the house of representatives today when a resolution was introduced providing that there shall be appropriated the sum of $2,000 to pay the uncollected salary of the late Amos Fox, superintendent of the Old Soldiers' home, who had not collected his salary for nearly two years prior to his death.—[Jackson Telegraph.]

RECENT ADDITIONS TO LIBRARY.

Books on Present World War in Greatest Demand.

The two books most in demand at present are "When the Prussian Came to Poland," written by the American wife of a Polish nobleman, and "My House in the Field of Honor," by Madame Francis Wilson Howard. "God, the Invisible King," by H. G. Wells, is found interesting, as the explicit confession of faith of the author of Mr. Britling Sees It Through.

Some of the new books of special interest are "The Story of Coopers-town," by Rev. Ralph Birdsell, "The Red Planet," by W. Locke, "His Family," by Ernest Poole.

Chauncey M. Depew's book, a gift by the author to the library, collects his most notable addresses and magazine contributions on the great affairs of interest of the past two years, under the title, "Addresses and Literary Contributions on the Threshold of Eighty-two."

Several new books and pamphlets on gardening, preservation of fruits and vegetables, and other topics of true economics are on the shelves.

A complimentary number of the new magazine, The Touchstone, contains an illustrated article by Emory Pottle, "The Great Road. The sketches made by soldiers back of Verdun, were photographed and used by courtesy of the French war office.

Oil and water will not mix, neither will booze and gasoline. The two latter, however, frequently get mixed with motor accidents, court blotters and vital statistics.—[Atlanta Constitution.]

MEN OF THREE COUNTIES.

Planning To Make Tri-County Business
Men's Convention a Big Success.

August 16 promises to be a memorable day in Oneonta. The Tri-County Business Men's convention, comprising the merchants of Otsego, Delaware and Chenango counties, will meet here on that date.

The committee having the details in charge is endeavoring to work out an instructive as well as interesting program. Mr. Solo, editor of the Harvard Age, New York city, is a forceful and convincing speaker. His subject will be "Practical Salesmanship." It is a very vital question and one which affects every man, whether he is a buyer or seller. He brings to Oneonta years of experience in big things and dealing with big problems and his audience should carry away with it lasting impressions.

Dr. Willard Scott of Brookline is a genius. Literary men, humorists and psychologists have endeavored to analyze this man. He is so unique that he is in a class by himself. It isn't what he says—it's the way he says it,
and his personality has been coveted and envied by thousands of speakers. He will bring a message
"The Best Man in Town."

The committee hopes to arrange a clambake in one of the parks. If the details can be worked out a shore dinner will be served directly after the speaking, somewhere about 6 o'clock.
Weather conditions of course will enter into the arrangements materially.

No Decision by Supervisors' Committee

The report this week printed in an exchange to the effect that the committee having in charge the investigation of sites for the proposed tuberculosis hospital in Otsego county had fixed upon one at Mt. Vision is stated by the committee to be incorrect. The committee has four sites under consideration, and will report on all to the board which will make its own decision. No announcement of its report will be made by the committee prior to the meeting of the board of supervisors in August.

of Highways—No Special Lenses Required or Recommended—Frost
Your Bulbs or Reflectors.

Much popular misconception prevails relative to the Hewitt bill passed by the last legislature which provides that "the light of the front lamps shall be visible at least 200 feet in the direction in which the motor vehicle is proceeding and shall give sufficient light to reveal any person, vehicle or substantial object on the road straight ahead of such motor vehicle for a distance of at least 250 feet. The front lights shall be so arranged that no portion of the beam of the reflected light projected to the left of the axis of the vehicle, when measured 75 feet or more ahead of the lamps, shall rise above 42 inches on the level surface on which the vehicle stands. They shall also give sufficient side illumination to reveal any person, vehicle or substantial object ten feet to both sides of said vehicle at a point ten feet ahead of the lamps." These restrictions apply also to spot-lights.

This is not designed to promote the sale of certain makes of lenses as many motorists believe nor does it require that any great additional expense be incurred. The law is an excellent one and in addition to ridding the highways of the blinding glare which resulted in checking the speed of many motorists who ran dangerously fast at night time.

There are several ways in which one may comply with the law at little or no expense. At a small expense frosted bulbs can be secured for the headlights and the ones now being used can be frosted. Then one can whiten the lower half of the reflector, which it is suggested will remedy the trouble. Any method that will rid your lights of the glare and keep the beam of the lights below the prescribed height will be a compliance with the law. Some are even placing white paper about the lower half of the reflector, which may accomplish the purpose.

In any event no special lenses are required—the law makers and the highway officials favoring the law purposefully avoiding any provision which would give any maker or combination of makers of lenses a monopoly being avoided.

COMPANY G COMFORT FUND.

Excellent Report of Chairman Herrieff —Contributions by Nearby Towns.

The Company G comfort fund is still growing. Chairman Frank A. Herrieff of the Chamber of Commerce committee is pleased in the manner the work is developing. Not only are members of the local committee working indus-triously, but the reports received from the territory adjacent to Oneonta indicates this whole section is ablaze with patriotic impulses and the citizens want our boys to have all the comforts possible.

The splendid report from Hobart with something over $150 is a magnificent tribute to the locality of that section.

It also has set a standard for other communities which will be encouraged to equal this amount.

Mr. Herrieff hopes the work can be cleaned up this week so that a comprehensive report may be rendered to the board of directors at a meeting next week.

Billiards Add to "G" Fund.

Another contribution was added yesterday to the rapidly growing testimonial fund of Company G. It was that of the City Billiard Parlors of A.
J. Brown & Son, 16 Broad street.

The patronage was good and the parlors did a little more business than usual. During the day an exhibition 100-point game of pocket billiards was run off by W. P. Gardner of Hartwick and L. Young.

STRAND TODAY.

Wm. Hart in His Masterpiece, "The Desert Man."

"The Desert Man" is, of course William S. Hart. It could suggest no one else. The big westerner gives another of his vigorous characterizations in a Triangle-Ince play bristling with action and set in wide vistas of picturesque desert country. Margery Wilson, who appeared with him in the "Gun-Fighter," is again an influence in directing his course. The story concerns a man of will, who comes to the little town of Broken Hope, so called because of its desolate, dilapidated condition and the hopelessness of its inhabitants. He takes charge of its affairs, drives out the town bully, Razor Joe, and rechristens the place Believe-ville, denoting a new era in its life.
Also a Keystone comedy, "His Parlor Zoo."

"THE GOLDEN BULLET"

Excellent Western Drama at the Happy

"The Golden Bullet" is a Gold Seal three-reel western mining drama, fea-handful and the way he finally got it—

two reels, Episode No. 2 of the "Mystery of the Double Cross," "The

MOOSE CARNIVAL NEXT WEEK

With 150 Performers and 12 Tented Shows Local Organization Will Have a Week of Fun—All Kinds of Talent Included, from Trapeze Artists to Simian Comedians—Company G
Day.

The Big Moose carnival, consisting of 150 performers and 12 tented shows with many side entertainments, will open in Ne-ah-wa park next Monday afternoon, July 30, and continue until August 4. The equipment and company will arrive here Sunday morning from Binghamton, where they have been for the past two weeks.

The local chapter of the Loyal Order of Moose, under the chairmanship of A. E. Grout, has secured LaGrou's shows for their week of fun. There will be many free attractions, including a daily band concert and high wire stunts. The shows will be by trapeze artists, acrobats, athletes, merry-go-rounds, Ferris wheel, oriental and Hawaiian villages, where natives will sing and dance, a two-headed Patagonian giant, a scene depicting the mining camps of '49, a performer of mystic illusions, dancing girls, freaks, Simian comedians, and others according to the program which is being distributed broadcast in a house to house canvass of the city.

One of the features of the week will be a daily challenge to anyone to try his boxing skill with either of two prize fighters. An offer of $5 is made to anyone who will hold his own against either one for five minutes, $10 for ten minutes, and $15 for 15 minutes. The fighters are Bob Dury of New York and Henry Preuss of Auburn.

Thursday, August 2, will be Company G day at the carnival. On this day a percentage of all the proceeds will be donated to the local guardsmen.
Special excursion rates on the trolley will be put into effect for the occasion.

ONEONTA CAN HELP THE BLIND

By Liberal Patronage of the Sale to
Be Held on Lawn at 251 Main Street
Today.

The New York State Commission for the Blind will hold a sale under the auspices of the Woman's club of Oneonta on the lawn of 251 Main street today, commencing at about 10:30 a.
m. The sale is one of a chain which the state commission is holding throughout the state. Cazenovia, Richfield Springs, Cooperstown, and Unadilla have all been visited with good success. After the sale at Oneonta the commission will go to Saranac Lake and Paul Smith's.

This is a time when the streets of many cities are filled with the boys in khaki, who are soon to be at the front.
It is only natural that the soldiers should arouse the interest and admiration of the community, but it is well to remember that there are many soldiers who have never worn a uniform.
Among these last the blind are preeminent. They have risen from the depths of resignation to the heights of heroism. Their silent courage has always occasioned admiration.

The blind broom maker, weaver, sewer and craftsman beg the public to inspect their wares. These wares are of various kinds; woven rugs, woven silk bags, woven bureau scarfs
and table covers, household brooms, hearth brooms, aprons, towels, dish rags, wash clothes, dressed dolls and bead work will be found. The Woman's club of Oneonta begs, in the name of the blind man, for the generous patronage of the public.

Has His Shoulder Broken.

Harold Westfall, for the past two years an employee of the Carfield grocery on Elm street, had his right shoulder badly bruised and the shoulder bone probably cracked yesterday.
He was crawling a car, when it backfired and the crank struck him a severe blow. Dr. Mills was summoned and attended to his injuries, which will keep him from work for some time.

Motor Club Officials Here.

President Frank M. Baucus of Troy, president of the New York State Automobile association, and Herbert W.
Baker, secretary of the same association, were in the city late yesterday afternoon, conferring with the officials of the local club relative to matters of mutual interest. They were enroute to Albany from Danville where they had visited the automobile club.

Why We Make Failures.

We go to the doctor and lawyer when sick or in trouble, but when it comes to investing or saving money we generally go it alone and lose out.
And this is the reason that so many are losing to the safe Oneonta Building and Loan association, which is protected by state laws, same as savings banks, and which for 29 years has accumulated small amounts and made them roll into hundreds of thousands of dollars, without the loss of a dollar entrusted to it. The state banking department says: "There are no financial institutions in this country whose investments are so strictly safeguarded as are those of building and loan associations." advt 1t

Parties in Auto Accident.

The occupants of the automobile which left the macadam road between Schenectady and Oneonta near the old Morgan homestead on Wednesday night when the steering gear broke, and whose identity at the time was questioned, were definitely ascertained last night as Arthur L. Bundy of Schenectady, the driver, Mrs. Emory W. Evans, and her daughter, Miss Allena Girndt, both of Colliers, and Howard Onstead, a boarder with Mrs. Evans while working for Porter Brothers.

This information was supplied The Star by Emory W. Evans, who also said that Mrs. Howard Onstead was not an occupant of the car.

Mr. Evans further said that his wife suffered two broken ribs and a cut under the left eye from the accident, and that her daughter, Miss Girndt, was slightly cut behind the left ear. Mrs. Evans is slowly improving, but is not yet able to perform her household duties.

COMPANY G MEN DINED

To Show Good Feeling Toward Them, Loyal Order of Moose Holds Farewell Reception to Six Moose-Company G Members — Finest Bunch of Men — Reasons for War Summed Up.

To show good feeling toward their fellow members who also are members of Company G, and to tell them that they should remember their brothers of the Loyal Order of Moose, a farewell reception was tendered six of the boys of Company G in the parlors of the Moose club on Dietz street last night.

In the words of Laverne P. Butts, one of the after dinner speakers, "Company G goes out of this city with a full company, and we are glad this lodge has furnished its quota. I congratulate the men on their high caliber. They are the finest bunch of men I have ever observed. We are proud of you. There will be no better soldiers turned out than those of Company G."

After stating why we are in this war, the Hon. George L. Bockes turned and motioned to the Guardsmen present said, "It is not that we would tell these young men our principles. We do not have to. They know them as well as we. They don't talk; they have acted."

"The country is united in this great issue," was one of the principles Mr. Bockes referred to. "Everyone is doing his bit. Every war of the past has been between democracy and autocracy, but the issue was clouded. This is the first war in which the issue is clear."

"Today we fight for the same principles that we did in the Revolution. Our Revolution was a protest against Prussianism. It was not clearly understood as that until late years. We are now fighting this very same spirit or Prussianism. It is not shall Germany control this world, it is shall the Kaiser? Nine tenths of his plans are carried out already, and it would have been ten tenths if it were not for Belgium. England was as little prepared as we are now."

"After three years of the making of slaves of every country that she has captured, Germany is an absolute despotism. Republicanism is protesting, and we as a republic protest by going into the war."

Mr. Butts' talk was, as he himself declared, from the heart. It was not to tell the Moose members what he thought of the Guardsmen, but it was to tell the Guardsmen how he felt for them.

"Your's is no easy task," he exclaimed. "And every day it seems greater and the difficulties more." Then toward the end he caused wild enthusiasm by declaring that the honor our men will bring us is something the world has never witnessed before.

The banquet drew much enthusiasm from those present. After filling every seat at the first table, there were still about 15 persons who had not been served, and a second table had to be set for them.

The members in whose benefit the dinner was given are: Sergt. John Conburg, Sergt. Oliver L. Lull, Corp. Harry Leonard, and Privates Platt R. Buckley and Dutcher J. Parshall.

Two Picnics at Ne-ah-wa Park.

There were two picnics at Ne-ah-wa park yesterday afternoon and evening—one that of the Men's Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church, the other that of the Universalist Sunday school.

There were about 115 present at the picnic of the Men's Bible class, including members and their families. The tables were set in the pavilion, which was decorated with Chinese lanterns and brilliantly illuminated. There was a generous supply of edibles furnished by the families of the members and everybody ate to repletion. Following the supper there were remarks by Rev. E. M. Johns and Rev. J. C. Johnson, and the outing closed at 9 o'clock with the singing of America. The occasion was in every respect enjoyable.

The Universalist Sunday school held its picnic at the same place, the dinner being served in the pavilion just before that of the men's class. The late afternoon was spent in games and in both instances the picnickers enjoyed the delightful walks about the park and the refreshing breeze.

DEATHS.

James W. Packer.

Portlandville, July 27.—James W. Packer, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the town of Milford, died of heart disease Friday morning at the home of his son, Albert E. Packer, near this village. He had been ill for several weeks but it was not until recently that his condition was thought to be serious.

Mr. Packer was a son of James Packer, who was one of the earlier settlers in this vicinity, and was 88 years and eight months old. He is survived by two sons, Albert E., with whom he resided, and Eber H. Packer, also of this township. He leaves also several grandchildren. He was a regular attendant of the Christian church as long as health permitted, and had a host of friends who will learn with the deepest regret of his death.

The funeral services will be held at his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Parties in Auto Accident.

The occupants of the automobile which left the macadam road between Schenectady and Oneonta near the old Morgan homestead on Wednesday night when the steering gear broke, and whose identity at the time was questioned, were definitely ascertained last night as Arthur L. Bundy of Schenectady, the driver, Mrs. Emory W. Evans, and her daughter, Miss Allena Girndt, both of Colliers, and Howard Onstead, a boarder with Mrs. Evans while working for Porter Brothers.

This information was supplied The Star by Emory W. Evans who also said that Mrs. Howard Onstead was not an occupant of the car.

Mr. Evans further said that his wife suffered two broken ribs and a cut under the left eye from the accident, and that her daughter, Miss Girndt, was slightly cut behind the left ear. Mrs. Evans is slowly improving, but is not yet able to perform her household duties.

COMPANY G MEN DINED

To Show Good Feeling Toward Them. Loyal Order of Moose Holds Farewell Reception to Six Moose-Company G Members — Finest Bunch of Men — Reasons for War Summed Up.

To show good feeling toward their fellow members who also are members of Company G, and to tell them that they should remember their brothers of the Loyal Order of Moose, a farewell reception was tendered six of the boys of Company G in the parlors of the Moose club on Dietz street last night.

In the words of Laverne P. Butts, one of the after dinner speakers, "Company G goes out of this city with a full company, and we are glad this lodge has furnished its quota. I congratulate the men on their high calibre. They are the finest bunch of men I have ever observed. We are proud of you. There will be no better soldiers turned out than those of Company G."

After stating why we are in this war, the Hon. George L. Boakes turned and motioning to the Guardsmen present said, "It is not that we would tell these young men our principles. We do not have to. They know them as well as we. They don't talk; they have acted."

"The country is united in this great issue," was one of the principles Mr. Boakes referred to. "Everyone is doing his bit. Every war of the past has been between democracy and autocracy, but the issue was clouded. This is the first war in which the issue is clear."

"Today we fight for the same principles that we did in the Revolution. Our Revolution was a protest against Prussianism. It was not clearly understood as that until late years. We are now fighting this very same spirit of Prussianism. It is not shall Germany control this world, it is shall the Kaiser? Nine tenths of his plans are carried out already, and it would have been ten tenths if it were not for Belgium. England was as little prepared as we are now."

"After three years of the making of slaves of every country that she has captured, Germany is an absolute despotism. Republicanism is protesting, and we as a republic protest by going into the war."

Mr. Butts' talk was, as he himself declared, from the heart. It was not to tell the Moose members what he thought of the Guardsmen, but it was to tell the Guardsmen how he felt for them.

"Your's is no easy task," he exclaimed. "And every day it seems greater and the difficulties more." Then toward the end he caused wild enthusiasm by declaring that the honor our men will bring us is something the world has never witnessed before.

The banquet drew much enthusiasm from those present. After filling every seat at the first table, there were still about 15 persons who had not been served, and a second table had to be set for them.

The members in whose behalf the dinner was given are: Sergt. John Genburg, Sergt. Oliver L. Lull, Corp. Harry Leonard, and Privates Platt R. Buckley and Dutcher J. Parshall.

Two Picnics at Neah-wa Park.

There were two picnics at Neah-wa park yesterday afternoon and evening—one that of the Men's Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church, the other that of the Universalist Sunday school.

There were about 115 present at the picnic of the Men's Bible class, including members and their families. The tables were set in the pavilion, which was decorated with Chinese lanterns and brilliantly illuminated. There was a generous supply of edibles furnished by the families of the members and everybody ate to repletion. Following the supper there were remarks by Rev. B. M. Johns and Rev. J. C. Johnson, and the outing closed at 9 o'clock with the singing of America. The occasion was in every respect enjoyable.

The Universalist Sunday school held its picnic at the same place, the dinner being served in the pavilion just before that of the men's class. The late afternoon was spent in games and in both instances the picnickers enjoyed the delightful walks about the park and the refreshing breeze.

Attend Wedding in Binghamton.

The bridegroom is a brother of the Oneonta secretary.

DEATHS.

James W. Packer.

Portlandville, July 27.—James W. Packer, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the town of Milford, died of heart disease Friday morning at the home of his son, Albert E. Packer, near this village. He had been ill for several weeks but it was not until recently that his condition was thought to be serious.

Mr. Packer was a son of James Packer, who was one of the earlier settlers in this vicinity, and was 88 years and eight months old. He is survived by two sons, Albert E., with whom he resided, and Eber H. Packer, also of this township. He leaves also several grandchildren. He was a regular attendant of the Christian church as long as health permitted, and had a host of friends who will learn with the deepest regret of his death.

The funeral services will be held at his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

My Burglary

It Had Farreaching Results

By ELINOR MARSH

I am of an artistic temperament.

From my earliest girlhood I had loved beautiful scenes. I took to drawing pictures early and in time became a water color sketcher. In summer time I drove around in a vehicle called a rockaway, drawn by an old horse that had been in my family a long while and in whom I had every confidence.

At night I would sometimes stop at a hotel, sometimes at a farmhouse, and occasionally would place my blankets on grassy ground and spend the night in bivouac.

One evening when I was some miles from a town, which I expected to reach before dark, Bob went lame. Looking about for shelter for I could not get on with a lame horse—I espied a short distance ahead of me, perched on a ledge, a cottage. It was as artistic a piece of architecture as I ever saw, with its grounds and vines growing over it. Indeed, the tout ensemble constituted a thing of beauty. If I could only be permitted to spend the night there I would be delighted.

I managed to get Bob to the gateway of the place and up a short winding road leading to the house. I was disappointed in not seeing any one about, and as I drew near it occurred to me that the place was unoccupied. The blinds were not closed and there was nothing to indicate that the house was empty. What was it that told me that the place was deserted?

Leaving Bob standing in the roadway, I went to the house and rapped on the front door with a brass knocker. It did not seem to me, if there had been any one within, that those knocks would have sounded so hollow. I listened, but there was no indication of any one stirring. Going around to the rear I failed to see any indication of a living being. There were no chickens, no dog, not even a lonely cat. Only a few flowers in beds near the house that I judged grew without being cultivated. There was a woodshed and some wood in it, but plenty of room for Bob in case I should have to leave him there.

Looking in at a window, I saw a library with a fine broad fireplace and among the furniture a large lounge. The house was locked, and I went to the other windows, but found them locked also. A trellis led to an upper window. It looked easy to climb, and I went up it and found the sash unlocked. I went into a bedroom and down a staircase. The front door was locked and no key, but I opened a side door by turning the latch.

I could understand the fascination of burglary so interested was I in appropriating the premises to my use for the night. There was a zest in temporarily owning this place, so beautiful and yet so desolate, which was enhanced by my having to break into it and learn what there was suited to my necessities.

The next thing was to unharness Bob and give him his supper. Then I went into the house with my lunch box, in which I always kept something and in which I now fortunately had enough to satisfy my appetite. There were cupboards in which eatables might be stored, but they were locked. I was eating I lighted a lamp in the library and looked over the books. It was evident that whoever had filled these shelves was a well educated and intelligent person. I have never before come upon a library in which every book had a value. And what surprised me most was that some of the books were up to date. I read till quite late, then, throwing myself on the lounge, put out the lamp and went to sleep.

On awakening in the morning I was astonished to detect the odor of coffee. What did it mean? Was the house, after all, occupied? Had the occupants returned late? I arose and went into the dining room. The table was set for breakfast, but for only one person. Hurrying on, I entered the kitchen. On the range a kettle was simmering, and there was a coffee pot that emitted the odor. A toast rack stood on the range, filled, and a couple of eggs were ready for boiling.

I started to find whoever had come in to apologize for my burglary, and not finding anyone on the ground floor, I went cautiously upstairs. The bedroom doors were open as I had left them the night before, but no one was in any of them. The house was as free from any person except myself as I was when I broke into it.

I went downstairs again, looked about me and listened. There was no sound save the simmering kettle in the kitchen.

Was I in my right mind? Was I asleep and dreaming? Was I enacting a play for a movie show?

But the odor of the coffee, the remembrance of the toast and the eggs, to say nothing of a dish of radishes and some tempting butter on the breakfast table, overpowered wonder, and, going into the kitchen, I boiled the eggs, and, removing them and the toast to the breakfast table, I sat down to eat. My grace was:

"Faithy godmother, I thank thee."

Never did a breakfast taste so delicious. There was no great variety, but I ate it all I wanted. After I had eaten I removed the dishes to the kitchen, poured water from the kettle and proceeded to wash them.

"Faithy godmother," I said aloud, "do me one more favor. Tell me to whom I am indebted for my lodging and especially for the delicious breakfast I have eaten."

"The obligation is all on the other side," said a voice behind me.

Turning quickly, I saw a man standing outside the kitchen, his arms resting on the window sill.

I stood looking at him, not knowing what to say to him. He was an old man, with a long white beard, and a pair of spectacles.

"I am Francis J. Heney, the California attorney, who may be the selection of President Wilson to probe speculation in foodstuffs."

When I left him he said to me: "This was the first day that I have ever spent here free from melancholy."

My forcible entrance to another person's property occurred several years ago. The next time I entered it was as the bride of the owner. Since the place was perfect when it was finished there is nothing to do with it but enjoy it. But if I should see the slightest chance for improvement I would not mention it to my husband.

We go there in May and remain through the summer. I have not yet exhausted the attractive landscapes in the vicinity as subjects for sketches.

After the Ceremony.

"This was given to me for a wedding present by my aunt, and I don't like it. I wonder if I could get her money back."—Life.

Will Save Annoyance.

The automobile tourist who insists upon traveling in absolute comfort, invariably carries in his car a more or less complete kit of repairing equipment with which his tires and tubes may be fixed up in time of emergency. A box of patches, a blow-out boot and a few valve insides do not occupy a great deal of space, but there are occasionally times when they prove of immense value.

In discussing this point the service manager of the Fisk Rubber company points out a way in which a motorist who is careful to keep his sundry kit well packed, effects a considerable saving on his tire expense. He says that "slow leaks" one of the most exasperating difficulties which the motorist can encounter is more often due to an imperfect valve inside than to any other one cause. The simple and sure remedy for such trouble is to supply a new valve inside which can be accomplished easily and quickly thus remedying the entire cause. A well furnished sundry kit is sure to include several small articles of tire equipment which are bound to result in a saving to the motorist in both patience and money.

Earth Roads Need Attention.

Good earth roads can be constructed at a very low cost. However, they require constant maintenance, which may be expensive where the travel is heavy. A well built and properly maintained earth road will serve some sections as well as the most expensive types of hard surfaced roads will serve other sections. Where this fact is realized more attention will be paid to earth roads, and the money spent on them will not be regarded as lost. It is neglect which makes earth roads bad and requires $2 to be spent where $1 invested earlier would have done the work. Every township should arrange for a patrol system of maintenance or its equivalent.

Open Letter to President.

1621 "K" Street,
Washington, D. C.
July 23, 1917.

The President,
The White House,
My dear Mr. President:

As a loyal American citizen and a lifelong resident of the District of Columbia, I wish to protest against the willful and persistent disregard for law and order systematically displayed by the members of the National Woman's party.

Your action in pardoning the 16 women sentenced to Occoquan was one of clemency and not of justice. It was a proof of your tolerance and magnanimity and showed your appreciation not so much of woman's rights as of her duties.

The women had been repeatedly warned that further violation of the laws would be punished and they had arrogantly and defiantly courted arrest. They went to Occoquan rather than pay the small fines imposed, simply to gain the notoriety and publicity of such an action, and then with a transparent mental dishonesty that is almost inconceivable in persons of normal intelligence, they advertised their martyrdom to the cause of suffrage.

In spite of the obvious justice of their sentence you let them go because their families needed their services—but will their families reap the benefit? Mr. Hopkins warned you that the "picketing" would continue. He was right, it has continued.

The American public is good natured and long suffering, that was well proved before we took up the glorious burden of this war, but are not orderly and law-abiding citizens entitled to protection from annoyance? Is it wise to fan the flame of class jealousy by allowing the deportation from the state (in cattle cars) of undesirable citizens in one section of the country, and permitting women of wealth, family and position to violate the laws and go unpunished? And not only unpunished but actually demanding what they consider a reward for their misconduct?

Can it be necessary that to preserve peace within our borders in this time of stress and imperative need for progress, the machinery of government should be halted that these flies on the wheel may bask in the light of publicity?

They prattle of "democracy" and strive to force the will of the few upon the vast majority—they who shout of patriotism and defend the good name of their country in the hearing of other nations—they who prate of equal rights, but who will not observe them under law—Mr. President, are these to be trusted with the solemn responsibility of suffrage?

I am submitting this question for your serious consideration, and with great respect, I am,

Cordially yours,
(Signed) Alice Hay Wadsworth,
President National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

OPENING THE BIBLE

When the President Takes the Oath of Office.

NO PLACE FIXED IN ADVANCE.

The Passage of Scripture Upon Which the Chief Executive Presses His Lips Is Entirely a Matter of Chance—The Bible After the Ceremony.

The president before he enters on the execution of his office takes an oath or affirmation that he "will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States," and this oath is usually sealed or confirmed by the kissing of the Bible.

The kissing of the Bible as part of the inaugural ceremony is perhaps following a very ancient custom. The Egyptians were required to kiss the scrolls on which the commands of Joseph were written.

The custom requires that immediately after the president elect has taken the oath, with hand on the Bible, the clerk of the United States supreme court shall throw open the book, and the incoming chief magistrate shall implant a kiss on one of its open pages.

Doubting Thomases have always thought that there was no element of chance in this performance and that the passage of Scripture is always carefully selected in advance, and the book is held by the clerk of the court in position so that the incoming chief will kiss the passage that it is intended he shall kiss, but this supposition is entirely wrong.

James D. Maher, clerk of the supreme court, said that the opening of the book is entirely "haphazard" and that no man on earth has the slightest intimation in advance regarding the passage of Scripture that will be thus brought into notice.

Usually the Bible that is used in administering the oath is bought by the clerk of the supreme court and paid for out of his pocket and is a small Oxford edition costing $10 to $15. The late James H. McKimney, for many years clerk of the supreme court, once said, "You see, congress expends money only by appropriation, and if we were to wait for congress to appropriate the price of the book we might never get a Bible on time."

There have been exceptions, however, when the Bible came from other sources. For instance, when James A. Garfield was inaugurated March 4, 1881, he carried in his overcoat pocket to the capitol a well worn, leather bound volume which had been presented to him by his mother. The book was taken from the White House and in a few years found its way to the stall of a bookseller in San Francisco. How it got there has never been known, nor is it likely it ever will be. A few years ago it was offered for sale at a very high price.

Chester A. Arthur took the oath of office just after midnight at his home in New York city Sept. 20, 1881. The Bible used was one belonging to the then chief justice of the state of New York. It is cherished by the judge's family as an heirloom.

On March 4, 1885, when Grover Cleveland was inaugurated president for the first time, he, like Garfield, kissed the Holy Book which was given to him by his mother. It was a small volume, bound in red leather, and was presented to him many years before. The book is now in the possession of Mr. Cleveland's married sister at Toledo, O. The Bible upon which he took the oath in 1893, eight years later when he became president the second time, was one presented by his beautiful wife, and she became its possessor.

When Benjamin Harrison was made president March 4, 1889, the Bible used was one that his wife had given him on the day of their marriage in Oxford, O., where President Harrison spent his school days. The Harrison Bible is owned by Mrs. James R. McKee, the daughter of ex-President Harrison.

President McKimney used a Bible that had been presented to him by the negro bishops of the country. It was the biggest Bible ever seen at the clerk's office, and Clerk McKimney in relating the incident said: "The day before the inauguration one of the bishops called at my office with the Bible. It was a huge affair of the type known as family Bibles. It rested in an ornate box lined with purple velvet and ornamented with gold. The box was fastened by lock and key. When I realized that it would be my lot to carry that huge Bible from the senate chamber clear out to the front of the capitol my knees grew weak and I could not refrain from asking the bishop jokingly where the wheelbarrow was that should go with it." The inviolable custom is that on the day following the inauguration the clerk of the court takes the Bible to the White House and presents it to the first lady of the land as a keepsake.—Exchange.

Our Wisdom Teeth.

The wisdom teeth are the four last molar teeth to grow. They come one on each side of each jaw and arrive somewhere between the ages of twenty and twenty-five years. The name is given them because it is supposed that when a person has developed physically and mentally to the point where he has secured these last four teeth he has also arrived at the age of discretion. It does not necessarily mean that one who has cut his wisdom teeth is wise, but that, having lived long enough to grow these, which complete the full set of teeth, the person has passed sufficient actual years that if he has done what he should to fit himself for life, he should have come by that time at the age of discretion or wisdom. As a matter of fact, these teeth grow at about the same age in people whether they are wise or not.—Exchange.

RESERVE SIGNAL CORPS.

Excellent Opportunities for Men Who Enlist in this Branch of Service.

All young men who are qualified as telegraphers, mechanics, electricians, horseshoers and have special educational qualifications are urged to enlist in the Reserve Signal corps. The term of enlistment is for the duration of the war. At the present time, ten field battalions are being organized.

Enlistment is given to men who are technically qualified to carry on the usual functions of the signal corps without additional technical training. Additional training is given in the use and operation of equipment directly pertaining to the battalions, also an intensive course of military training which will make the organization an efficient military unit for active service.

To do this it is proposed to establish large training camps at various points in the United States, one of which will be in the vicinity of New York city. Advice is given to the young men who enlist that they continue their ordinary pursuits until they receive the call from the President, then report immediately to the place designated.

Each man enlisted will, from the time he reports, receive the same pay and allowances as the corresponding grade in the regular army. Applicants must be citizens of the United States or have declared their intention to become such, and must be between the ages of 18 and 45 years. The responsibilities assumed by enlisted men are:

They are subject in time of peace to duty in instruction camps or elsewhere for fifteen days each year. Men who enlist now will remain at their homes until arrangements are perfected for their training, when they will be ordered to duty and assembled in battalions. These battalions will be sent to training camps for instruction in the duties of Signal Corps soldiers.

If you are interested in this branch of service, communicate with Daniel C. McCoy, United States School of Military Aeronautics, Ithaca, N. Y.

TELLS WOMEN TO ENLIST.

Colonel Guthrie Praises Work of Women's War Relief Societies.

Lieutenant Colonel Percy A. Guthrie of the 23rd Canadian Overseas Battalion, the man who received 22 wounds from a bursting shrapnel shell in the Ypres campaign, stood on the platform of the British War Relief association, at 542 Fifth avenue one afternoon recently and declared that war was harder on women than on men.

Colonel Guthrie praised the work of the British Women's War Relief society in sending hospital supplies and comforts to the armies.

"Keep on knitting," he said. "Don't pay any attention to the lies about socks being stored up in stables in England and never getting to the front. We never can have too many socks. 'Why, let me tell you that from April 27 to May 5 we men never changed our socks. When it was all over and we were able to totter part way back and had to be carried the rest of the way on stretchers they had to cut our socks off in the hospital and the raw flesh came with the fabric.'"

"Now, if we had only had extra pairs of socks in the trenches it would have saved many a month of suffering for those brave fellows. You can't knit too much."

Nervous Systems.

In man and all of the higher animals the nervous system centers in the brain, and life is dependent upon the condition of the brain, so that the slightest injury to it means death or derangement of faculties. But in the case of the worm and other creatures of the lower kind the nervous tissues are distributed over the body and do not center in the head, so that a worm may be cut in half and still live.
